Expertise at a glance

As a leadership communication coach, I help leaders become acutely aware of their strengths and weaknesses and use that to become more effective communicators. As leaders are often tasked to speak to a "virtual audience", my experience in media training helps them bridge the communication divide. Marshall Mc Cluhan said that the "Medium is the Message" but in actual fact many leaders tend to look at the medium as an impediment to sharing their messages. In our programs, I actively help individuals overcome their fear of the digital medium and look beyond themselves to share messages which resonate with their audience both intellectually and emotionally.

My Resource Values are Mentoring, Mutual Purpose and Motivation

Professionally I put my heart into giving every human being the "time of the day" so they feel that they can make a positive difference to the world.

I have seen that listening is the best gift you can give someone when they are learning more about themselves.

Three words that my clients often use to describe me are patient, humorous and trustworthy.
